

In the short story 'Something Old, Something New' the narrator claims it is easier for his parents to deal with him being in love with a Muslim girl than being in love with Islam. True/False