

How could an instruction text be laid out to enable better understanding for the reader?