The short story 'The Darkness Out There' is written in the third person subjective. True/False